

My experience as a CCSP provider has given me knowledge and trust in helping patients who are looking for a provider who truly understands their injury and has a proactive treatment plan. As the main provider in my own sports practice for the past three years, I have been able to apply various techniques taught to me through the program and insight to my patients who want to know more. In addition to being a full-time provider in my office, I also teach part time as an Adjunct Faculty member at Parker University. I have taught a variety of courses and have the opportunity to influence building stronger and confident providers in the sports health care field. I have also had the opportunity of assisting the ACBSP Exam Committee with reviewing exam questions and referencing questions with current research. My strong suits of staying motivated and focusing on long and short-term goals are what helped me be successful in my field today.
